Siddhartha Mukherjee, M.D., D.Phil.
Keynote Speaker

Siddhartha Mukherjee is an Associate Professor of Medicine at Columbia University and a cancer physician and researcher. Dr. Mukherjee was a Rhodes Scholar and received his D.Phil in Immunology from Oxford University and his M.D. from Harvard Medical School. He completed his internal medicine residency and an oncology fellowship at Massachusetts General Hospital. His research lab studies the biology of blood development, in particular, malignant and pre-malignant diseases such as myelodysplasia (MDS) and acute myelogenous leukemia (AML). The eventual goal is to develop novel drugs against these diseases. In addition, he has authored The Emperor of All Maladies: A Biography of Cancer, which won the 2011 Pulitzer Prize in general nonfiction, The Laws of Medicine: Fields Notes from an Uncertain Science, and his latest, The Gene: An Intimate History. He is a frequent contributor to the New Yorker.
